

Employee benefits that do more than tick a box

It's not just about salary anymore.

People expect more from their employer than a monthly pay cheque.

It's one of the simplest ways to attract great people, keep your best talent, and show your team they're valued. Whether you've got a small team or a growing business, employee benefits can be a smart investment.

What can they do for your business?

Bring in the right people

A good benefits package helps you stand out from employers who only compete on salary.

Keep your team together

When employees feel valued, they're more likely to stick around.

Make your budget work harder

Some employer-paid benefits can offer tax efficiencies for both your business and your employees.

Help people feel supported

Benefits can give employees and their families extra peace of mind when life throws up the unexpected.

Boost productivity

People who feel looked after are more likely to be engaged, productive and loyal.

Show what your business is about

A strong benefits package says you care about your people, not just the work they do.

leading the ambitious • fortus.co.uk • enquiries@fortus.co.uk

Fortus Wealth Management Ltd (FCA No 985590) is an appointed representative of Julian Harris Adviser Network Limited (FCA No. 304155) which is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority. The performance of your investments is subject to risk(s). Its performance may fluctuate based on movements in the market and economic condition(s). Capital at risk. Currency movements may also affect the value of investments. You may get back less than you originally invested. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of the future performance. Tax treatment is based on individual's unique circumstances.

Build a package that fits your business

When did you last review your benefits?

Most businesses look at salaries every year.

Benefits don't always get the same attention.

A quick review can help make sure your package still works for your people, your budget and your business goals.

Let's see what could work

Every business is different, so your employee benefits should be too. Whether you're making a few changes or starting from scratch, we'll help you build a package that works for your people, your business and your plans for the future.

enquiries@fortus.co.uk

0333 006 6981